THE OFFICE L FUNERAL.

Washington, March 28 -The remains of the late Colet Justice Walte were removed from the family residence to the capitol at 11:8) this morning. They were accompanied by his relatives, associate justices and their families, efficiating derzymen, seven in number, officers of the Supreme Court and numerous personal friends. There were no services at the house. The arrangements were of the simplest and quietest character. The cortege proceeded to the capitol by way of Fourteenth street and Pennsylvania avenue.

As early as 11 o'clock this morning the galleries of the House were crowded with spectators auxious to observe the funeral services over the remains of the late Calef Justice and to do honor to the memory of the decessed. The floor of the House bore every evidence of mours ing. Over every doorway were heavy draperies of black, and the folds of the American flag, which hargs over the Speaker's chair, were tastefully caught rive in Toledo to-night at 10 o'clock. up with the same emblem of death and sorrow. In the spice in front of the clerk's desk were ranged heavy leather covered chairs for the accommodation of the relatives and friends of the decessed, the Pr-sident and his cabinet, the Justices of the Supreme Court and the tuneral committee of both houses of Congress. The front rows of the deaks of the members will be reserved for the S natore, while in the back of the hall a space was filled with chairs for the ac commodation of invited friends and members, lockeding many ladies.

Pro nptly at 11:20 the Speaker called the House to order. Prayer was offered by Ray Dr. Cuthnert. The business of the House was then suspended, while its had a protracted spell of cold, wet weath-officers carried in the bier and placed it or here, which has continued for the last on the space in front of the clerk's desk. ten days. Dallas, Tax , March 28 .- This marnog's trains carried away tee last member of the executive committee, and the town is subsiding. In a day or two it will get down to work again. Everybody is congratulating everybody upon what is termed Dallas' victory.

As for trading, all such is without foundation. Much is said about the "Fort Worth and Austin siste," all of which exists only in the vivid imagina-'ion of those who assert any combinat on. Some of the Fort Worth representatives worked for Austin after Fort Worth had secured the first convention, and one of them worked for Dalles. Taese are the facts in the case. Prohibition or Cake never entered the deliberations of members of the family came in over the tae committee in any way, shape or from California and this morning form. EXALL'SIMPARTIALITY. The able and imparital manner in which Chairman Exall presided over the committee is favorably commented upon by all who were present. His one idea was to have an harmonious meeting and the serving of the best interests of the party. No man could complain of his rulings, and all conceded that the chair evinced the strictest fairness towards all the contesting cities, not withstanding his former and present towns were cont stants for the conventions. Both the chairman and the committee proved by their actions that the confidence reposed in them by the Democracy was well merited and in no wise misplaced. THE CALL for the Fort Worth convention, which will convene May 22, will be issued tomorrow so that the district, county and precinct machinery of the party can be well lubricated for the work of selecting delegates and the subsequent work of the campsign. It is possible that the call for the Dallas convention, which meets August 14, will be called at the same time. This idea is based upon the general convenience of the people living in he rural countles, and to obviate a too frequent calling together of the Democracy, where one m eting will suffice.

THE ELECTORAL TICKET will bereafter be chosen by the convention that selects delegates to the nation al conventions. This duty is not only piaced where it naturally belongs, but is heretofore have had too much to do, especially in the years when general changes in officials occur, and each office is sought by numerous new men Besides this it adds an increased interest to the quadrennial conventions that provide for the state's representation in the national conventions.

Lord Cairns told me an interesting story from the experience of his late father: "A Mr. Farstone, having no family, left £7000 to sny man legitibearing he name of Furstone who should discover and marry a female Furstone. If the marriage should result in children the some was to descend to the male offspring, if any, or to any child or children of the opposite sex who should, I married, retain the name. Parents, as every body knows are apt to consider their daughters worth their weight in gold, but a Scotch gentleman estimated his two daughters' value even at a higher rate than this, hequeathing to each her weight in £1 back notes. The elder seems to have been slimmer than her sister, for she only got £51,500, while her younger sister recelved £57,344."

An English paper states that the captain of an ocean steamer one day found on his vessel a pigion tost had failen from the air and reemed unterly exhausted. He cared for it, and it soon recovered, becoming a favorite on the steamer. On landing the captain left the snip, and found, to his great surprise, that the pizeon flew beside him wherever he went. and even entered a coffee house beside its friend. Nor did its graditude cool down, for it is still the constant companion of the captain.
